This yearbook is dedicated to

Dennis Olson

We dedicate the 2008-2009 Fond du Lac Ojibwe School Ogichida yearbook to Dennis Olson. Mr. Olson recently retired as Construction Project Manager for the Reservation.

He was instrumental in ensuring that the Ojibwe School was constructed to the highest standards and on time.

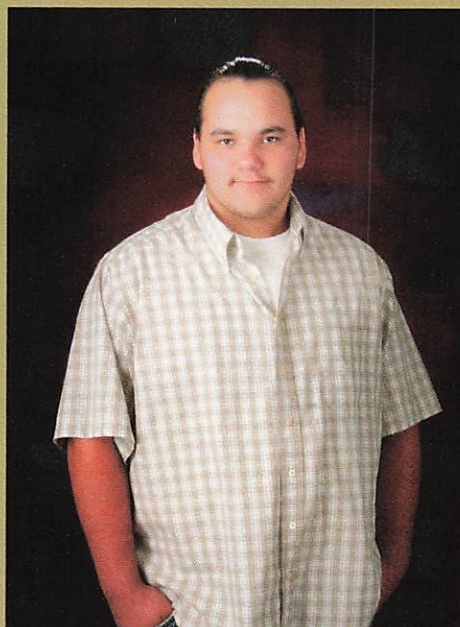

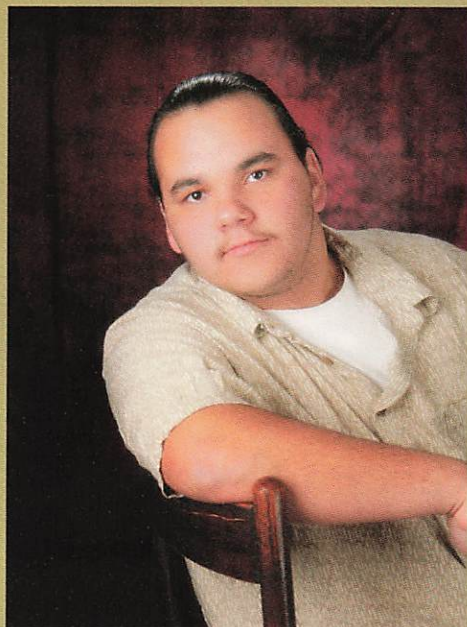

We wish Mr. Olson a happy and healthy retirement.

Keep it tight!

Memorable Moment:

Either the time Chris and I were hitting drums with the sled out back and Mr. Johnson caught us. Or the time Chris and I were ripping up the back yard with the truck and Mr. Johnson caught us again!

Memorable Moment: Either the time I went to take a balloon from a little kid and when I turned to run; I ran into a pole. I gave the balloon back. Or when I was giving my
"How to make a Slushie" speech. It didn't work out very well. I ended up having to get a mop. I didn't know the bottom of the blender came off so easily.

Christopher Johnson- Fuller

Quote: You're going to listen to me? To something I said? Man, haven't I made it abundantly clear during the tenure of our friendship that I know nothing? I mean half the time I am talking out my butt...

Memorable Moment: In shop I was welding and Jeremy was there.
Sparks were flying everywhere and Jeremy's pants caught on fire. It was so funny! And Jeremy wanted me to buy his pants from him.

A special thank you goes out to Frank Martin, for working so hard to do rice camp with us this year. We appreciate everything!!!

Rice Camp

It was somehow decided that Chris' car would be the best way to haul the wood.

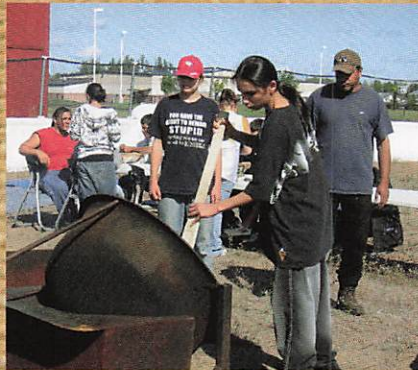

Dewey chats with friends, Travis and Lee, while dancing on the rice.

Amy spent a lot of time dancing on the rice.

Tara D. brought her 8th graders out to rice camp.

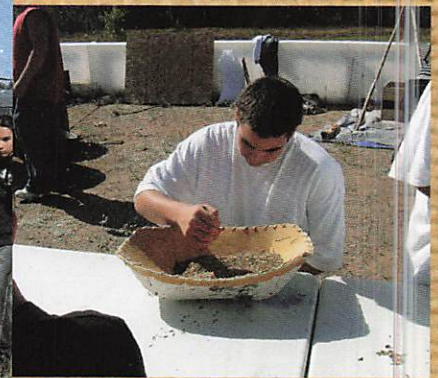

Shawn parches the rice before it is danced on.

Timmy is back there cleaning the rice while Alexander keeps others entertained with his stories.

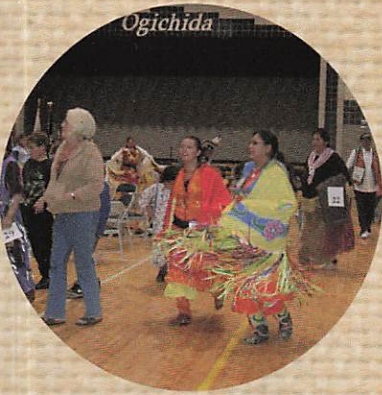

Josh, Morningdove, David, Natasha, Cotee, Taylor Drift and Samantha are taking a break from all the work.

Trever is cleaning the rice after it has been winnowed.

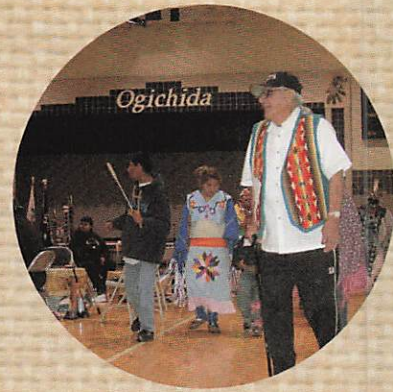

Students, staff and community members all had a great time.

Aren't the dancers beautiful?

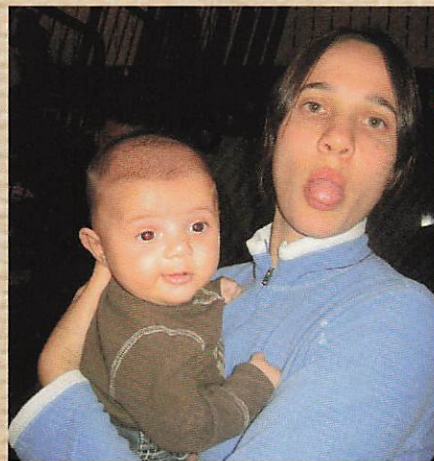

Vanessa was one of the many students that helped out with the powwow.

Thank you, Jen T, for helping to organize our back to school powwow. It meant a lot to the students and staff.

Fall Pow Wow

Katie and Ethan enjoying themselves.

We had 6 drums registered and on the floor this year.

Natasha, Bethany and Taylor working hard at the concession stand to raise money. Good job, girls!

Larissa and Keezer having a lovely moment.

What jolly people!
Pat Olson and Jamie Bluebird

Go Mikey and Josh !

Willow chowing down.

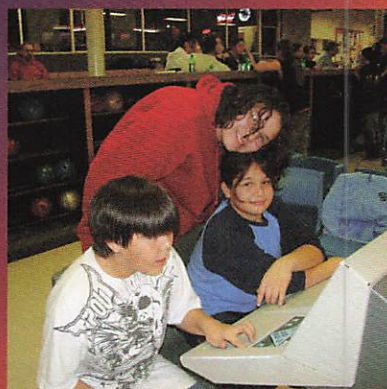

The girls-Amber, Selena, and Vanessa!

The pizza crew

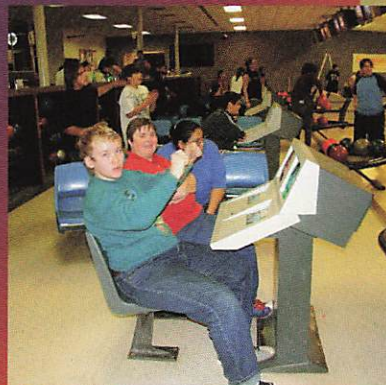

Josh! Don't look!

Pumpkin, you have to smile !

Oh boy, must be fun.

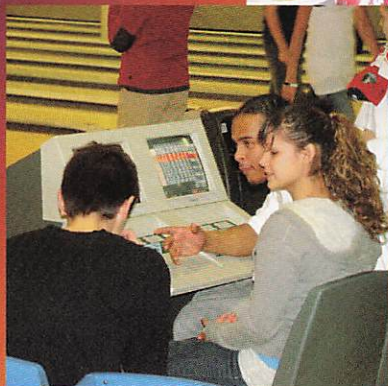

Hey, Katie

and Tara!

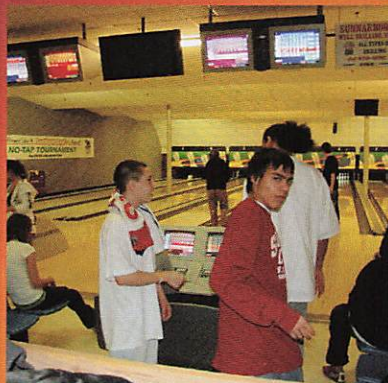

Who's got the highest score?

What crazy boys!

Having a good time boys?

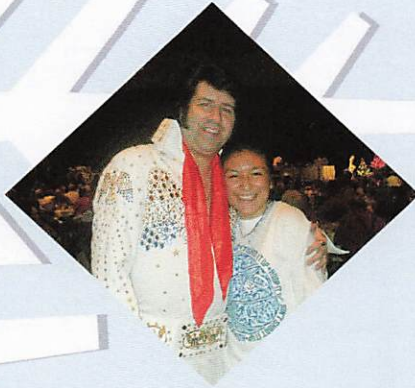

Beautiful smile, Val

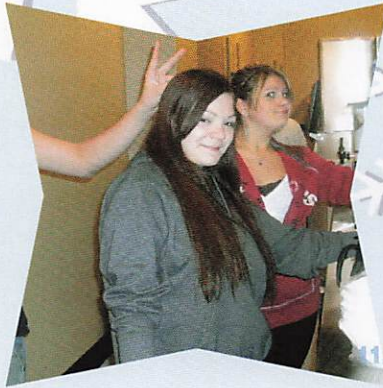

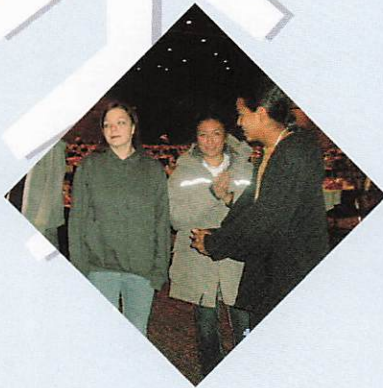

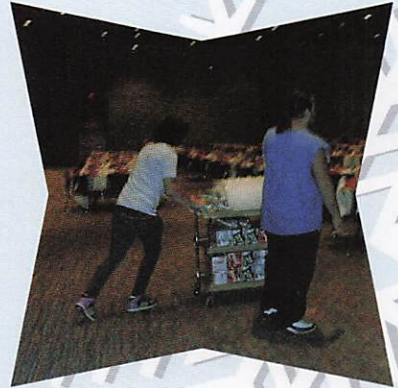

Are you having fun yet girls??

Looks like Elvis just entered the building and Val is the first to take a photo with him.

Looks like Chris is learning something new!

Elder's Christmas Party

Juniors and Seniors helped serve a lot of people.

Tara's Language Class

Valerie Ross (10th grade) made this book in Language class for a Head Start class room. Her book is about the weather. You did a beautiful job, Val!

This book was created by Raquel White (9th grade). Her book is about different emotions. You did a great job, Raquel!

THE TOUR GUIDE

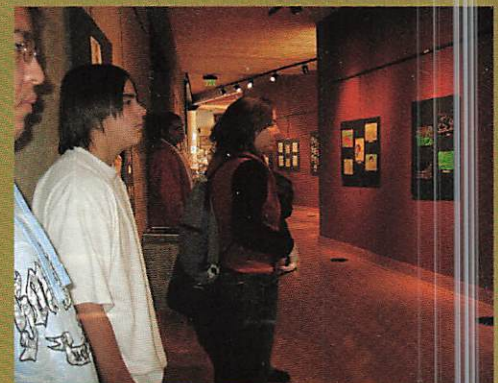

SCOTT READING UP ON HIS HISTORY.

MORNINGSTAR, VALERIE AND FRANCENE HANGING OUT IN THE WIGWAM.

STAR AND FRANCENE
REALLY SEEM TO BE ENJOYING THEMSELVES.

JAMIS ENJOYED THE TRIP AND LEARNED A LOT.

JEN AND TARA TOOK US TO THE BOIS FORT HERITAGE MUSEUM. WE REALLY ENJOYED OURSELVES AND LEARNED A LOT.

KYLE'S FAVORITE PART OF THE MUSEUM WAS THE CONSTELLATIONS ON THE CEILING.

SHANE WAS INTERESTED IN ALL THE PEOPLE WHO HAVE SERVED THE COUNTRY.

STAR AND VAL HAVE THE GIGGLES.

AFTER THE TOUR, JEN AND TARA TOOK THE KIDS OUT TO EAT.

Grandmother at Indian School

Left on scrubbed-down wooden steps to think about obedience, and large fellows she took the time on the look of her back as she knelt on the pale spot worn by other little girls under some knees, a hundred black wool stockings grinding skin and away.

When I was young, about five years old or so, I went away to boarding school. We couldn't speak our native tongue. If we did we were punished.

—Veta Villalobos, Boise, Idaho

Small distant lightning flickers pale flashes down her shame, left by other girls in broken girdles, as they stretch to sewing class each waiting for her own favorable return to the state, no think and remember when happening to girls who speak a paper tongue.

Try to forget this paper tongue. Forget.

Forget. In disobedience she almost hears from far beyond the schoolyard beyond the long rain cycle beyond little girls crying in white linen beds.

her mother, so far away, sleeping to herself in the cove and speaking quietly with Grandma as they sew the quilt for the new baby and laughing with her sisters in their wash clothes.

the little legs, does it hurt?

Alison, age nine (in her diary) she thinks, missing her knee on the little bean beds, only the soft part and not the bone.

How long and later then?

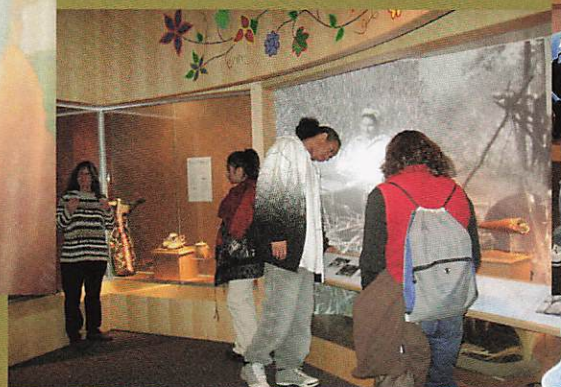

not when Teacher comes to ask if she thought she was a girl.

Calumet, age seven (Tina Gotschke, New Lake, 1946)

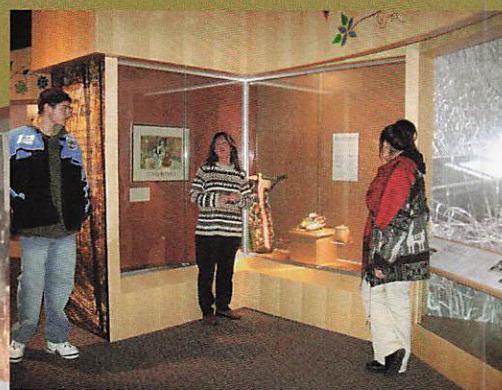

A GRANDMOTHER'S STORY ABOUT BOARDING SCHOOL

THE KIDS ARE LISTENING INTENTLY TO THE TOUR GUIDE.

TRAVIS FOUND THIS EXHIBIT VERY INTERESTING.

WE LEARNED ABOUT BOARDING SCHOOLS. I LOVED SEEING ALL THE COOL STUFF. - STAR WEBSTER

YES. Program

Sarah, Vanessa, Jamie, Willow and Bethany, ringing the bell.

Josh Cochran working to get donations

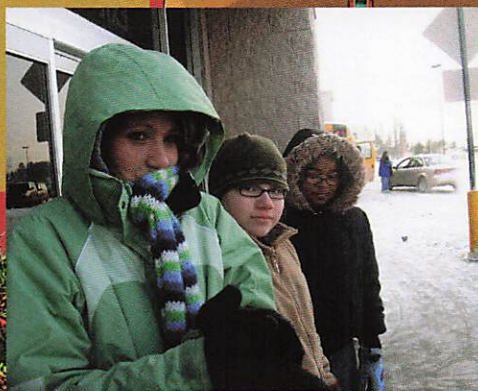

On Thursday, December 12, 2008, our students from student council and the YES. Program were outside of Wal-Mart, ringing the bell for Salvation Army, singing Christmas carols and wishing shoppers 'Merry Christmas'. Some of the people joined in with the carols as they dropped their coins into the bucket. The following students did a wonderful job: Isiah Bluebird, Willow Johnson-Suller, Bethany Wilkie, Josh Cochran, Larissa Bosto, Vanessa Fox, Amber Fox, Aliza Oingras and Sarah Ammesmaki

Vanessa and Larissa Looking good in the apron!

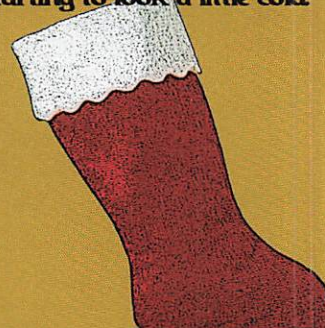

Amber, Bethany, Aliza and Willow looking a little cold after their time ringing the bell.

Josh, Amber and Vanessa, starting to look a little cold

Santa

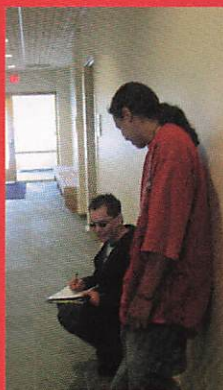

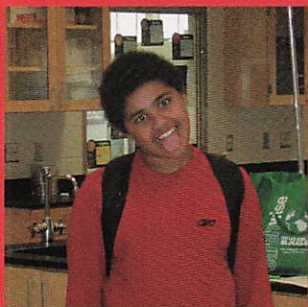

Manny looking serious!

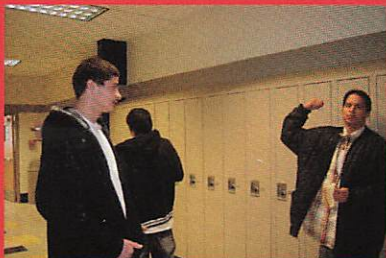

Looks like you guys are pretty relaxed.

Just Sweet!

You can always count on DeShawn for a smile.

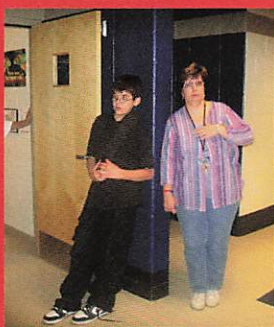

Oh boys, just get to class already!

The quietest kids around.

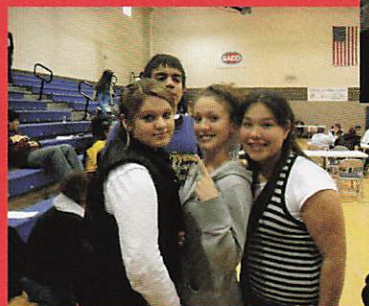

Why grow a mohawk, when you can wear a paper one?

Hanging out with Sue

The kids at FDL Ojibwe School are the best!!

Alien meets warrior

These girls thought they needed to fix Barb's hair. You look BEAUTIFUL!

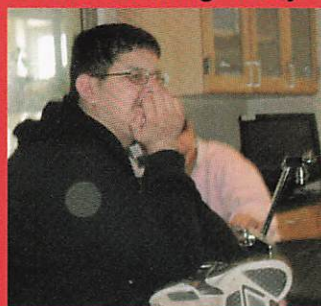

Hey Brandon, what are we learning today?

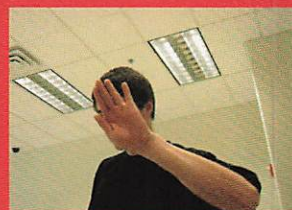

Heather is having a fine day :)

8th grade Science

Danny, we finally got you to take a picture!

High Five, Scott.

Art by our students

BACKGROUND CREATED BY VALERIE ROSS, 10TH GRADE

Above: Created by Amy Martineau, 11th grade.

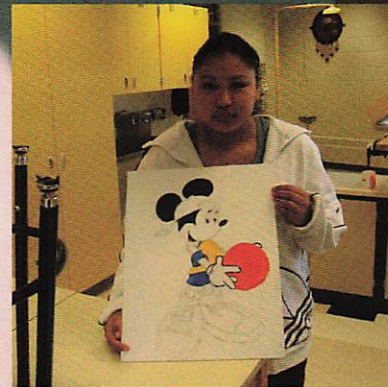

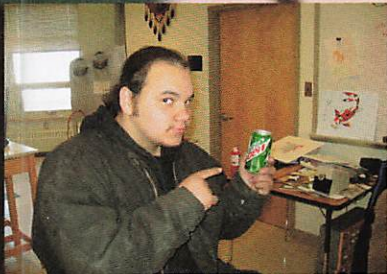

Keenan Diver-7th grade-is working on drawing.

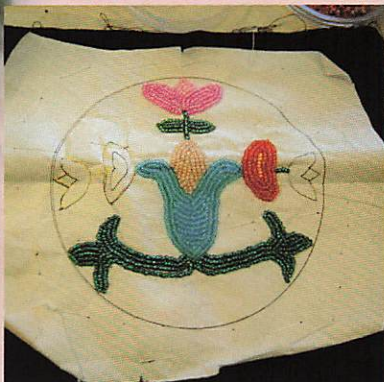

Valerie Ross: I got into drawing feathers a couple years ago and decided to learn to paint them. I also wanted to paint something nice for Mr. Sautbine.

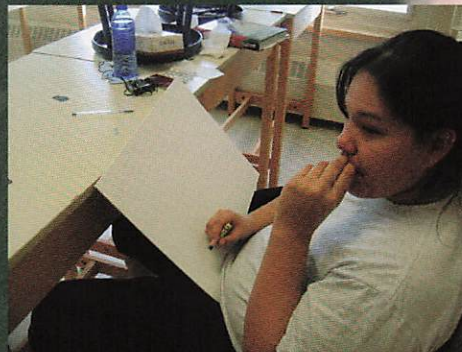

Vaness is making t-shirts to support the basketball players.

Larissa with the Minnie Mouse painting she is working on.

Beadwork by Larissa Bosto

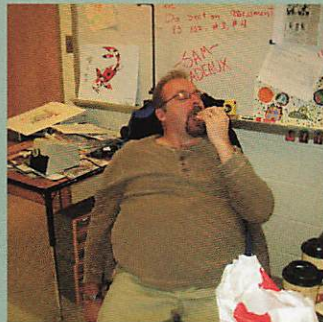

Krysta is deep in thought, coming up with a masterpiece.

Tyler is working the potter's wheel.

Mr. Sautbine enjoying a snack.

This art wasn't done in the art room. It was on the board in the English room. Ria did a self portrait and it looks just like her!

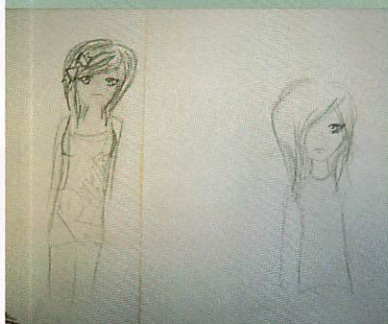

Apparently, Raquel is a ninja!!!

Katie Allen is planning on beading this.

Staff

Dale and Keezer, warming up to each other.

Jan and Pat

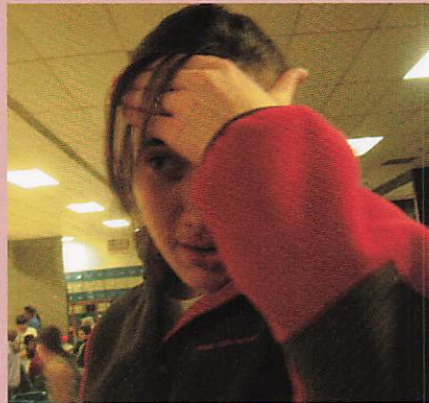

Was Dale causing trouble, Officer Durfee?

Can you ladies smile any bigger?

The boys

Just let it out. You are having a bad day!

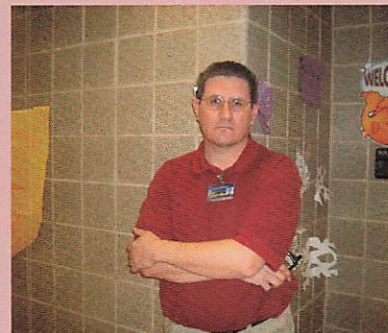

Sue and Barb, pointing at.....Katie?

Barb and Katie call each other every morning to color coordinate.

The aliens will NEVER know what these two are thinking.

Mel and his mean face.
